BIG MASS MEETING

John O. Sheatz and Party Greeted By Large Crowd in Towanda

SWOOPE PRINCIPAL ORATOR.

Meeting Lasted Less Than an Hour, During Which Time Messrs. Sheatz, Lilley, Swoope and Wilt Spoke Extemporaneously.

John O. Sheatz, the Republican candidate for State treasurer, was accorded a hearty welcome in Towanda, Bradford county's capital, Friday His coming on firemen's parade day was a fortunate circumstance , as a large number of people came to Towanda to see the march of the fire laddies, and stayed for the doings in the evening.

The mass meeting in Hale's Opera House, while of less than an hour's duration, gave Candidate Sheatz an opportunity to air his views, which he did in a straightforward, yet anything but eloquent manner. W. I. Swoope of Clearfield, who has the reputation of being one of the best orators in the state, was the principal speaker, and as an expounder of Republicanism he is a gem of the first water. Captain J. Andrew Wilt, chairman of the meeting, and Hon. Mial E. Lilley made brief addresses, which like that of Mr. Sheatz and Mr. Swoope, were extemporaneous.

The campaigning party, which has been on a tour of the state, arrived in Towanda from Wilkes-Barre on train No. 1 at 3 o'clock. In the party beside Candidate Sheatz are Hon. W. I. Swoope, former district attorney of Clearfield county, John F. Austin of Corry, who is in charge of the party as the representative of the State Republican committee, and two representatives of Philadelphia newspapers, Charles W. Campbell and his brother, James A. Campbell.

Three automobiles carrying the reception committee consisting of Geo. R. Hill, Ed. Carter, Jr., E. J. Atwood, A. B. McCraney, W. W. Jennings, Hon. Mial E. Lilley, George G. Johnston, L. L. Pierce, Hon. George Moscrip, Register and Recorder Dewey, Republican County Secretary W. J. McCabe and Hon. C. L. Stevens, met the party at the upper station and brought them down town. They were given a ride down Main street to view the firemen's parade and then around the Scott school house and back to the Ward House, where they made their headquarters while in Towanda.

The shop train from Sayre, bringing the delegations from up along the Lehigh, was met at the foot of Park street by the Germania band, and marched to the corner of Main and Park streets, where the band played several selections, during which time a quantity of red fire was burned. A large crowd listened to the music and followed the band to the opera house.

Shortly ofter 8 o'clock Republican County Secretary McCabe called the meeting to order, announcing that Captain J. Andrew Wilt had been suggested for chairman of the meeting and that gentleman was unanimously chosen. Mr. Wilt made a brief address and read the names of the vice-presidents of the meeting, the following gentlemen being called to the stage in that capacity: ' Register and Recorder Dewey, F. R. Prince, U. M. Fell, John H. Dean, J. W. Codding, Postmaster Turner, G. M. Hoffman, George G. Johnston, W. W. Jennings, Hon. C. L. Stevens, E. J. Atwood, William Cross, Hon. Louis Piollet, D. A. Keefe, Hon. J. K. Newell, A. C. Blackwell, G. N. Bird, J. L. Ellsworth, F. K. Harris, James Terry, F. M. Vought, Hon. George Moscrip, Geo. R. Hill, Burgess Foyle, A. B. McCraney, District Attorney Mills, Hon. N. W. Pendleton, Hon. W. T. Davies, Hon. E. M. Tuton and Dr. D. Leonard Pratt.

The opera house was comfortably filled when Chairman Wilt introduced Candidate Sheatz, there being a sprinkling of ladies in the audience. Mr. Sheatz makes no pretensions to being an orator, but what he has to say is spoken in a sincere manner, which carries conviction. He called attention to the attack made upon him for his work in the legislature on the state pension bill, and told the whole story of how Governor Stuart came to veto the bill He gave the lie to all the stories circulated to the effect that he worked for the defeat of the bill. Besides referring to the pension bill and its veto, Mr. Sheatz said in part

"In my nomination for this office there was no understanding, secretly or otherwise, no pledge or obligation to anyone and my only duty, if elected, is to the people of our state. And you can depend on it that the business of that office will be conducted in a straightforward, business-like manner, and when my term of office expires every dollar that should be in the state treasury will be there. And I want to impress upon you that the management of that office by my predecessors will have no bearing on me whatever or my administration. For, figuratively speaking, I shall guide the plough and turn the furrows so the people of Pennsylvania can see what's underneath whenever they will call at the state treasury. I shall also see that they may know every day before sundown the condition of their finances.

"Of that deplorable affair, the building and furnishing of the state capitol, I have only this to say as that entire matter is now in the hands of the chief law officer and the courts of our state, so with M. Hampton Todd, James A. Scarlet, David T. Watson and the other eminent attorneys, counsel for the prosecution, the people of this state may safely leave this matter in their care.

"As to some of those unpaid bills in the matter of the building and furnishing of the state capitol under the old board of public grounds and buildings, I wish to say that I will absolutely not pay any of them unless specifically directed to do so by the courts of the state."

Hon. Mial E. Lilley was called upon and made a few remarks, giving way to Hon. W. I. Swoope. It was this distinguished gentleman's first visit to Bradford county, and he took the audience by storm with his commanding appearance, perfect enunciation and flow of oratory. He is a rapid fire talker, and intersperses in his discourse humorous anecdotes which makes of him an enjoyable as well as interesting speaker. His address, while extemporaneous, was a gem, and he scored heavily with the audience, being frequently interrupted by applause on mention of Lincoln, McKinley, Roosevelt or the grand old flag. He expounded Republicanism from the start to the finish and concluded his speech with the dramatic ejaculation, "Next Tuesday let us say to Roosevelt in the white house, we are coming Brother Teddy, old Pennsylvania is coming 200,000 strong."

At the close of the meeting Candidate Sheatz and Mr. Swoope were greeted by a large number from the audience who went upon the stage.

SAYRE IS BORNING.

Recognized Politically at Last Says Times-Record.

There is great rejoicing in Sayre, the railroad village up the brook, and all because the townhalless burg is borning, politically speaking. The following from Saturday's Times-Record, tells the story:

"Sayre is beginning to come up to its own—politically. The town has been side-tracked to the limit and now it is ready to surge forward and demand its rights. This fact was clearly demonstrated at Towanda Friday.

"The Sayre contingent was recognized everywhere as being there with a right to be heard. William Cross, burgess of the town, and candidate for the state senate was placed at the head of the list of vice-presidents and was seated on the platform with John O. Sheatz, candidate for the office of state treasurer. During the afternoon and evening, on every side, could be heard the expression that Sayre should no longer be slighted. Everyone acknowledged that the largest town in the county had a right to have a representative citizen elected to some office. The sentiment at Towanda was that William Cross, on account of his efforts to reduce taxation on private property by compelling corporations to pay their just share of the expenses of the counties and municipalities, was by right the man who should be elected to the state senate."

ACCIDENT AT LAQUIN.

Andrew Savage Fell Between Cars and Was Badly Injured.

Andrew Savage, 16 years of age, is in the Williamsport hospital being treated for injuries received in an accident on the railroad at Laquin Monday.

As near as can be ascertained, he was attempting to board a moving train and fell between the cars, which crushed one of his hips, and inflicted other serious injuries. His escape from instant death was due to the fact that the cars were moving slowly at the time.

Erie Hotel Taxable.

Although the Erie company is exempt from taxes on its repair shops and right of way in the state of Pennsylvania, it will have to pay taxes for running a hotel. Since the machinists' strike the Erie company has housed and fed strike breakers in what is known as the old hammer shop, and the Susquehanna borough officials can see no reason why the Erie company should not pay taxes for running a hotel. Accordingly Daniel Malpass, assessor in the Third ward, is to levy an assessment for taxes for running a hotel.—Susquehanna Transcript.

Runaway Accident at Troy.

The Troy House 'bus team became frightened at an approaching train at the station at Troy Monday afternoon. The driver, W. H. Brown, tried hard to hold the horses but was unsuccessful, the team running down Railroad avenue at high speed. When in front of the machine shops Driver Brown was thrown and injured, but not seriously. The team a moment later collided with A. R. Johnson's dray to the damage of both vehicles.

BRADFORD COUNTY SWINGS BACK INTO THE REPUBLICAN COLUMN.

HE CAN NOW MAKE PUBLIC MURDERER'S CONFESSION.

Murder at Mansfield Recalled by Death of Wesley Goodwin.

Wesley Goodwin, father of Walter Goodwin, who shot and killed his wife, Effie Copley Goodwin, in Mansfield, on the night of Sept. 3, 1897, died recently at his home at Crooked Creek.

Mr. Goodwin made great effort to save his son from the death penalty, which he suffered in expiation of his crime. It was stated after the execution that Walter Goodwin had made a statement to his spiritual adviser, the Rev. J. C. Warren, which was different from any made public, and that Mr. Warren believed it a true version of the tragedy.

This statement, it was said, was not to be given to the public until after the death of Wesley Goodwin. Now, that the old gentleman has passed away, there is considerable curiosity as to whether the reported statement was true or not. Mr. Warren is somewhere in the West, and it may be some time before anything further can be learned about the matter.

PISTOLS AS FIRE ALARM.

Man Discharges Revolvers, People Rush to Windows and Are Saved.

A news dispatch from Wilkes-Barre says: "By the firing of two big revolvers as fast as he could pull the triggers a pedestrian at Pringle, near Wilkes-Barre, probably saved people from death Monday morning. He discovered the large boarding house of John Kavelack in flames. The fire had spread through the lower floor and he realized there was little chance of arousing the 22 inmates by the usual method in time for them to escape. So he fired his revolvers.

"The shooting aroused the inmates and the neighbors as well. All in the burning house managed to escape by the upper windows and the neighbors aided in getting them out. The big house and two houses adjoining were destroyed and several others would probaly have been also had not a heavy rainstorm aided in extinguishing the flames."

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Potterville Citizen Dies From Injurnes Received in Falling.

Benjamin Meachum, an aged resident of Potterville, met with an accident last Thursday, which resulted in his death a few hours later.

He had been picking apples on the Dunn farm, and in going down the cellar steps missed his footing, falling to the bottom. His skull was crushed and he was injured internally. Death ended his sufferings Thursday evening, without his having regained consciousness. A daughter and sister with whom he lived survive the unfortunate man.

Italian Exodus.

Monday night it was necessary to attach two extra cars to train No. 20 to accommodate the Italians who were returning home from this country. This reduction in the Italian population all comes from Sayre, and the colony at East Waverly, and there were over 100 of them who were going back to their native clime to spend the winter and live in luxury off what they had earned in this country. The exodus was caused because the Lehigh had laid off the stone ballast and other construction gangs. They were paid off. Frank Spino, the padrone, says that he sold 175 steamship tickets to Italy since last Friday.—Waverly correspondent Athens News.

Dr. Marshall's Appointment.

Dr. L. G. Marshall of Rome, left Monday for Philadelphia, and goes from there to Butler county. He has been appointed by the State Live Stock Sanitary Board to go to that county to assist in suppressing the new disease among horses and mules, known in Europe and Asia as "epizotic lymphangitis." This disease has been in the Philippines for a number of years, but in England since 1904. This is the first appearance of it in this country. There are already 200 cases reported.

Douglas, teacher.

School Closed.

The Nail Works school has been closed on account of diphtheria. One of the pupils became ill with the disease, and many of the children were exposed. As a precautionary measure W. T. Ferrel, secretary of the board, ordered the school closed.

SHEATZ BY OVER 1300

Republican Candidate Carries State by at Least 175,000.

LIGHTEST VOTE IN MANY YEARS

But Little Interest Manifested in the Election or the Outcome—Towanda Gives Sheatz Plurality of 103, a Republican Gain of 341.

Bradford county, which two years ago gave Berry the Democratic candidate for state treasurer a plurality of 900, swung back into the Republican column Tuesday by giving John O. Sheatz an estimated plurality of 1,300 over John G. Harman, the Democratic nominee. Sheatz has been elected treasurer of Pennsylvania by an estimated plurality of 175,000.

The lightest vote in years was polled. In Towanda the three wards totaled less than the number of qualified voters in the Second ward alone, and the same light vote prevailed in the county and also the state. No interest was manifested in the election or the outcome, except among those in touch with politics.

H. K. Mitchell, Esq., Republican, was elected district attorney without opposition. Hiram E. Bull has been elected county surveyor by a large plurality over N. F. Walker, Democratic.

Towanda Borough.

	1w	2w	3w	Tot.
Treasurer:
Sheatz, R.	48	80	84—	212
Harman, D.	40	44	25—	109
Stevenson, Pro.		6	8—	14
Surveyor:
Bull, R.	55	85	91—	231
Walker, D.	31	41	17—	89
Seward, Pro.	1	4	7—	12

H. K. Mitchell, for district attorney, polled 252 votes in the three wards of Towanda borough. There were no socialist votes cast in the borough.

Other Districts Heard From.

North Towanda township went Democratic, giving Harman 33 to 19 for Sheatz. For surveyor they gave Walker 21 to Bull's 20, a Democratic majority of one vote. Towanda township gave Sheatz 23 to Harman 17. Monroeton borough, Sheatz 41, Harman 18. Wysox second district, gave Sheatz 21, Harman 14. New Albany, Sheatz 51, Harman 45. Rome borough, Sheatz 18, Harman 13. Burlington borough, Sheatz 19, Harman 4. LeRaysville borough, Sheatz 34, Harman 12. Pike township first district, Sheatz 25, Harman 4.

Ulster split on the vote for surveyor, giving Walker 79 to Bull's 22. Sheatz carried the district by 64 to Harman's 34. Mitchell received 75 votes.

There were 167 votes polled in Troy the home town of H. K. Mitchell, candidate for district attorney, and he received every one of them, some of his fellow citizens voting for him who did not vote for the other candidates on the ticket. Sheatz received 101 votes and Harman 41.

Athens borough gave Sheatz 192 Harman 89; Mitchell 232; Bull 135, Walker 150.

At the hour of going to press there were 17 districts yet to be heard from. The returns from the 54 districts heard from, Sheatz has 2,059, to Harman's 1,136, which would indicate that Sheatz plurality in the county will fall below the 1,300 mark.

Luzerne county went Republican by a substantial plurality. Fuller was elected judge and Rhoda sheriff; both are Republicans. Lackawanna county split about even, Sheatz and Harman running neck and neck.

Chemung county, N. Y., went Democratic. Elmira elected Sheehan, Democrat, the well known merchant, as mayor, in preference to Z. R. Brockway, the Republican candidate.

In Other States.

Congressman Burton's fight against Tom Johnson for the mayorality of Cleveland was the most sensational of all the contests outside of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. Early returns showed Burton in the lead and making gains all along the line. Republicans figured a Burton majority of 2,000, while Johnson's men predict a victory with 6,000 majority.

In other Ohio cities, the fight was not so hot. Returns in Toledo indicated Mayor Whitlock's re-election by 10,000; while in Cincinnati, Colonel Leo Markbreit, Republican, was conceded the mayorality by 10,000.

Tammany was victorious in all New York contests. Thomas Foley, candidate for sheriff of New York county, beat Max Ihmsen, the Hearst-Republican candidate, by more than 50,000, and carried the county ticket with him. The Tammany-Republican candidates for common pleas judgeships ran away from the Independent League candidates, winning by more than 100,000 votes.

The Kentucky gubernatorial race, at late reports, was extremely close. Wilson, the Republican candidate, and Hager, Democrat, both claimed victory, but returns showed the result could not be predicted prior to the final count. Governor Beckham's chance for the senate is in doubt, as no information was received relative to the make-up of the legislature.

Owing to the split among the Democrats of Massachusetts, Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., Republican, was re-elected by a majority exceeding 50,000. He carried Boston, usually a Democratic stronghold, by a good majority.

The Maryland contest, except for the long term senatorship, is completely in doubt. At a late hour no returns had been received on the state and county fights, but it is known the vote was heavy. The Eastern Shore counties, as usual, were said to be Democratic. In Baltimore, ex-Governor John Walter Smith, candidate against Governor Warfield for the long term senatorship, was figured as having a majority of 15,000 and seemed to be leading all over the state.

Unofficial estimates in the San Francisco mayorality battle at the close of the polls indicated that the race was very close, Daniel A. Ryan, Republican, P. H. McCarthy, Laborite, and Mayor Taylor, Democrat, each expressed themselves confident of victory.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Agreed to Leave Wife, Then Has Man Arrested for Marrying Her.

The Wilkes-Barre Record, one of the most sedate and truthful as well as newsy papers in the state, is responsible for this:

"One of the most peculiar cases ever tried in any of the local aldermanic courts was that of the one before Alderman Donohue Friday evening, when Peter Nocci, who is separated from his wife, Rose, had Acolocia Yongati arraigned, charged with marrying her.

"An agreement entered into by Nocci and his wife was submitted. In it the husband had agreed to separate himself from her and the three children, for a period of 90 years and that he would not bother her during that not inconsiderable period.

"This document has been prepared by a 'squire and was regularly sworn to in the presence of witnesses, on Sept. 30, 1907.

"As soon as the above had been made Peter immediately started upon his road of 90 years' freedom. Shortly afterward Yongati, who had been a boarder at the home, became married to Mrs. Nocci. Peter heard of this and after verifying the rumor had the man arrested. In default of $500 bail Yongati was committed to jail."

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Scranton Young Lady May Not Survive Robber's Attack.

Miss Bella Osborne, a stenographer of Scranton, underwent an experience in Green Ridge, one of Scranton's fashionable residence sections, on Saturday night that may cost her her life.

Miss Osborne after quitting work at 10 o'clock started for the home of her brother in Green Ridge. After she had alighted from the car some one struck her a heavy blow with a stick about four feet long and several inches in diameter. The person who struck her evidently feared that he had killed her for he dragged her body to a cornfield and left her there, after taking her purse.

About 4 o'clock Sunday morning Miss Osborne recovered consciousness and crawled to the home of her brother and succeeded in attracting the attention of his family and securing aid. The blow was such a heavy one that one ear was crushed to a pulp and a cut several inches in length was produced, while the physician states that it was of sufficient weight to have produced death in 99 out of 100 cases. The condition of the young woman is very serious.

This event, coupled with the recent robberies and one which was attempted within the shadow of the Scranton city hall Sunday morning is occasioning much anxiety to residents of that city.

Gertrude Hunt, the two years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saxe I. Hunt, of Scranton, was burned to death Saturday. The child, in some manner, got hold of matches and set herself afire, being burned so seriously that death ensued within a short time.

WINTER SCHEDULE EFFECTIVE.

Stone Ballasting and Other Crews Being Laid Off by Lehigh.

The Lehigh has laid off about 150 men who were engaged in the work of putting in the stone ballast along the line of the road, and in a short time practically the whole force which includes other gangs in work along the road will be laid off.

This is not part of the general policy of retrenchment that the Lehigh seems to have adopted, but the regular thing at this time of the year when the season for that kind of work has closed. The same thing happened last year, and is therefore nothing unusual.

During the past season the company has put in about 16½ miles of double track ballast. This includes the stretch of track from Black Walnut to Mehoopany, work at Towanda, in the Sayre yard, and on the new stretch of double track at Van Eetten.

The amount of single track ballast is 25½ miles, and extends from Van Etten to Willow Creek, where the ballast that was put in from Geneva toward Ithaca about two years ago ended.

With this work it leaves nearly all the main line ballasted with stone except for a few short stretches where changes in the grade or lines are being made or are contemplated. One of these places is on the Ithaca branch between West Danby and North Spencer, and the other is this side of Falls.

So far as the section gangs are concerned they will remain at work as usual, and there will probably be no reduction in their number.

Played Tie Game.

The football teams of the Towanda and Athens high schools played a tie game on the driving park grounds in Athens Tuesday afternoon. The Athens team outweighed Towanda, but the county seat lads were fast enough to make up for what they lacked in weight. The game was replete with sensational tackles, and hard, fast playing on both sides. These two elevens seem evenly matched, for this is the second time they have played each other to a standstill this season.

I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills, bought a box and took them according to directions. They gave me so much relief that I kept on taking them until I had used three boxes when the pains had entirely disappeared. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. OSBORN A CATHOLIC.

Maloneys Will Now Receive Him as Son-In-Law.

MISSING GIRL LOCATED?

She Is Believed to Be With Her Father In Either New York or Philadelphia—Clarkson, Who Ran Off With Her, Is Gone.

New York, Nov. 5.—The belief that Miss Helen Maloney has returned to America and is now in hiding in New York is strengthened by the statement from Philadelphia that her father, Martin Maloney, the Standard Oil magnate, has succeeded in effecting a reconciliation and is now on his way home with her. Clarkson has returned to London.

Arthur Herbert Osborn, the New York broker who said after the Clarkson-Maloney elopement he had been married to Miss Maloney, virtually confirms the rumor that some amicable agreement has been reached between him and the Maloneys and that he has been accepted as a son-in-law in his admission that he knows the whereabouts of every one connected with the case and has entered into an agreement with Mrs. Maloney and others not to make any statement at present for publication.

From Philadelphia comes the positive assertion that Osborn has accepted the Catholic faith and that his marriage to Miss Maloney has been accepted as legally valid by Miss Maloney's family. He would not deny this or another story that an arrangement has been made whereby Clarkson is to "disappear" and that Miss Maloney is to publicly assume her station as Mrs. Osborn. He did say, however:

"Mr. and Mrs. Maloney, contrary to reports, have never been inimical to me. We have been in perfect accord ever since Helen's disappearance. Within a short time the public will see that it has been told a number of erroneous stories."

Mrs. Maloney has been so prostrated by the events of the last few weeks that she has had to go to a sanitarium in Philadelphia, believed to be Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's private hospital.

The presence in Philadelphia of either Mr. Maloney or his daughter is authoritatively denied, though their arrival is expected hourly.

The fact that Osborn has become a Roman Catholic may have everything to do with the ultimate solution of the affair, since the opposition to him by the Maloney family was on account of the religious differences of the young couple.

FOR CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Popular Vote In France Favors the Guillotine.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The increase of crime in France has aroused a popular demand for the restoration of the death penalty, which has been practically abolished by the systematic commutation of the sentences of criminals condemned to death. The government desires to formally abolish capital punishment and has been commuting death sentences to imprisonment at hard labor for life. During the present session of parliament it was the intention of the ministry to secure the adoption of a measure formally doing away with the execution of criminals, but recently juries throughout the country have recommended having recourse to the guillotine as being the only means of stopping the atrocious murders which are of daily occurrence in Paris and in the provinces.

A popular vote taken by a local newspaper has resulted in 1,083,655 persons pronouncing themselves in favor of restoring capital punishment, while 328,692 announced themselves as being opposed to it.

BEES CURE RHEUMATISM.

Delaware County Woman Asks Prof. Surface for Remedy.

Having been cured of rheumatism by the stinging of a bee, a Delaware county woman has substituted a beehive for her medicine chest. A Harrisburg dispatch says:

"State Zoologist Surface, who first demonstarted that rheumatism may be cured by the sting of a bee, received a letter from this woman telling how she has been cured. The woman, whose name Dr. Surface declines to disclose, states that her legs are entirely free from rheumatism since she has applied the bee-sting remedy.

"'Every time I wash,' she says, 'I am troubled for a few days afterward with rheumatism in my arms and shoulders. But I have found a way to overcome this. I have provided myself with a hive of bees, and after my week's washing I allow myself to be stung by the bees on the parts where I have the rheumatism. The effect is marvelous. The rheumatism goes almost as quickly as it comes.'

"After stating her case further, the woman asks Dr. Surface what he would suggest as a remedy for the pain caused by the bee-sting. The doctor immediately wrote to her suggesting that she innoculate her arms and shoulders with a very low percentage of cocaine before allowing her bees to get busy.

"Believing they can be cured of rheumatism by the sting of a bee, many persons have written to State Zoologist Surface offering to submit themselves as subjects for experimental purposes.

"Men and women all over the state offer to pay their expenses from their homes to Harrisburg and return if he will only turn loose his bees upon them, saying that they have already received relief by allowing themselves to be stung at their homes.

Dreamed of Oil.

"I had a great dream," said Jacob Fennell of Fennelton, Butler county, to his wife as he awoke and looked out of the window. "I saw two oil derricks out there on the hillside and the oil was spouting up hundreds of feet and running away in the gully in a great stream." Fennel marked the spot where he had seen the gushers in his dream. Then he induced the operators to develop the lease, and now ten of the biggest wells in what is the best pool ever struck in Butler county, are yielding 500 barrels a day. The famous gusher brought in by Drs. W. R. and John V. Cowden is located exactly where Fennel, owner of the farm, saw it in his dream.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

I am as certain as I now live, says Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, Kalkaska, Mich., that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. TOWANDA, PA., NOV. 7, 1907.

Some newspaper men are terrible liars. In writing of a cyclone out West one of them said it turned a well inside out, a cellar upside down, moved a township line, blew the staves out of a whiskey barrel and left nothing but a bung hole, changed the day of the week, blew a mortgage off a farm, blew all the cracks out of a fence and knocked the wind out of a politician.

We don't think this is original, this story that a correspondent sends in from one of the rural districts of the county, but here it is. The pretty school ma'am in order to discourage tardiness offered a kiss to the first arrival at school each morning. The next morning at 5 o'clock three young men were seen roosting on the fence and by 6 o'clock all the boys of the school and two directors put in an appearance.

One of the causes, probably the chief cause, of the marked drop in gilt-edged, dividend-paying stocks, is the serious embarrassment of some very rich men, due to the unwise extension of their interests in many directions. One Pittsburg capitalist, of course very prominent, is said to have borrowed more than $30,000,000 from Pittsburg banks since March, and the demand for curtailment has naturally caused embarrassment and loss. After all, who wants to be a millionaire, particularly in times of financial and general monetary disturbance?

Spend your own money your own way. Does it not seem strange to you that a dealer who tries to substitute, when you ask for an advertised article, should assume that you are not capable of spending your own money? Show him that you are by insisting on getting what you ask for and refusing any substitute. Substitutes pay him a larger profit, otherwise he would give you what you ask for, without question. Manufacturers of advertised articles produce large quantities being enabled thereby to manufacture cheaply and furnish the public with high grade goods at the price of inferior substitutes. Substitutes are expensive at any price.

In an article on the many desertion cases, in which a wife and children are left in want and distress, the Chester Morning Republican says: "What the remedy is for this state of affairs is not plain. The state manifestly cannot guarantee any woman that the man she marries shall always have employment, or that having employment, he will devote his earnings to her care and that of their children. However, it does seem possible that men contemplating matrimony could be compelled to show ability to maintain a family at the time of marriage. Even so weak a measure as this would probably lessen the number of improvident and reckless marriages. It is a difficult problem. It will not be solved until some method is found to punish wife deserters by confinemen in which they will be forced to work and turn the proceeds over to their families."

The fact that the planet Mars was about 20,000,000 miles nearer the earth this Summer than it usually is seemed to offer special inducements to astronomers to investigate that warlike member of our solar system, and, accordingly, Amherst college sent Astronomer Todd to Chili, South America, to avail himself of this fact, and also of the great elevation and clear atmosphere of the Andes Sierras, where, at an elevation of 15,000 feet he continued his observations and took more than six hundred photographs of the great red planet, whose canals, so-called, have so much interested the scientific world. The expedition is said to have been a great success. Let us hope we shall know something definite about the planet and parallel canals and all that and even of the living things on the planet, if such there be.

"Even we farmers," says the Grange News, editorially, "sometimes think that the sun of agricultural opportunity shines brighter in the West or elsewhere. But when one travels into that famous country he learns that there are about an equal number of eyes that look longingly towards Pennsylvania's richly stored hills, toward her beautiful and rugged mounbosoms. To the alert and progressive sized nation within their placid farmers outside our state, our fertile farmers outside our state, oud fertile and well watered valleys appeal longingly while our unequaled and nearby home markets appear as a Mecca from which the farmer in Pennsylvania may reap a golden harvest. Our immense population of consumers, every one of whom is or may be employed at good wages, is able and willing to pay better prices for the produce of the farm than ever before."

THE ELECTION.

The returns from Tuesday's election are, at this writing, too meagre to speak of majorities, but enough is known to indicate results where there was doubt and about which interest was keenest. There were ten general state elections but only in the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Massachusetts, and in the cities of New York, Cleveland and San Francisco, did the contests have special significance. There were no Congressional elections and in only a few instances, therefore, can the result be interpreted as having a bearing on national issues.

The chief interest locally centered, of course, in the result in our own county and state. Here, the vote, although unusually light, clearly indicated that in neither was there any faltering in loyalty to Republican principles and that in a straight clean-cut issue between the two leading parties there need be any doubt of the result. In the state, Sheatz, the Republican candidate for Treasurer, is elected by a plurality ranging from 175,000 to 200,000. He carries this county by about 1,300. This result, in view of an extremely light vote, is most gratifying and shows that beyond question on a fair and square contest and a full poll Bradford county is reliably and overwhelmingly Republican. Next year with a straight fight on National issues, she will give her old-time majority for the Republican ticket.

The returns from all sections up to late Tuesday night give the following results: In Massachusetts, Governor Guild, Republican, has an estimated plurality of about 75,000 and is elected. His plurality in 1904 was 30,233.

In New Jersey the returns on Governor are coming slowly, but a report from the state capitol indicate that Katzenback, Democrat, for Governor, may have a plurality of 10,000. In 1904, Stokes, the Republican candidate for Governor, had a plurality of 31,000.

In New York state Edward T. Bartlett and Willard, Bartlett, who ran jointly on the Republican and Democratic tickets, are elected as judges of the court of appeals over the candidates of the the Independence League. In New York city the Tammany caididates are leading those of the Independence League by large majorities.

In Rhode Island, Higgins, Democratic candidate for Governor, is making gains, but the race is close. In 1906 Higgins had a plurality of 1,318.

In Maryland the county returns indicate that ex-Governor Smith wins in the Senatorial primaries. There are no early returns on the Governorship.

In Kentucky, Wilson, Republican candidate for Governor, is making gains, but there is doubt as to his overcoming the Democratic majority of 1906.

At Cleveland the latest returns indicate a plurality for Tom L. Johnson, Democrat.

At San Francisco, the Union Labor candidate is showing unexpected strength.

At Salt Lake City the American, or anti mormon, party is leading.

At Toledo Mayor Whitlock is re-elected.

SPECTACULAR MOURNING.

"Spectacular mourning," says Dr. Max Feidner, in a Berlin paper, "is an American weakness. The big black bordered mourning advertisements in which we indulge are not to be seen here, but cards with deep black borders, printed or engraved, according to the bank account of the bereaved family, are sent to the friends who leave cards or send messages of condolence. Much display is made in this way. Black clothes are bought after a death in the family, even by the poorest people, and this makes a death a double blow. Some people have the courage to wear the clothes which they have and to avoid high colors for a while ,but the great majority are afraid that their neighbors will think them disrespectful, and good clothes are sold, given away or dyed. Much of this spectacular mourning is idle show and heartless, and it is nothing unusual to see women who would think it a sin against the dead wear anything but black indulge in all kinds of pleasures. A woman who is versed in the mourning usages of this country told me that there are three distinct degrees in mourning dress. The initiated can tell if the woman is 'broken hearted and inconsolable,' 'sadly afflicted' or simply 'in mourning.' While the American may make more display in the way of mourning garments, I have seen no black bordered business stationery or mourning business cards like we see so often in Europe."

"The sociologists lay the charge of race suicide at the doors of the multi-millionaires," writes Anna Steese Richardson in an article on "The Influence of the Business Woman on Home Life," in the November Woman's Home Companion. "Why do they not investigate the family conditions in the great middle class, from which are drawn our most successful women? Here they will find the great source of danger to the promulgation of the human race. Today it is the young women—and the mature women—of the middle class who are turning their backs on the home wherein lies America's hope of future greatness. And for what? To exchange the birthright of womanhood, wifehood and motherhood for the mess of pottage known as business career. Therein lies the nation's greatest menace—race suicide."

The most consoling pleasure of old age, looking out of the windows of hope, is the sweet sense of the heart and soul that you have spread the flowers of life along the rugged road of humanity instead of the nettles of contention.

SAVE THE SHADE TREES.

The thanks of humanity are due to a Wilkes-Barre jury which has just assessed a city steam heating company $400 apiece for the destruction of three shade trees at the front of a propertty before which its poorly constructed pipe ran.

Societies have long existed for the prevention of cruelty to children and animals, but wanton corporate cruelty to shade trees has prevailed for the most part without let or hindrance and it is time that public sentiment recorded its veto. A few more verdicts like this Luzerne county one and the trees will be safe.

Ordinarily the companies have escaped notice as tree killers, except perhaps, the telephone and telegraph company linemen, whose habit is to go upon property and hack at beautiful trees precisely at their pleasure.

It took a long time to arouse people against these outrages, but finally a decision was reached in the Pennsylvania courts holding employers responsible for the damage done by servants in tree mutilation. The Wilkes-Barre decision is merely an extension of this sound principle.

Much, however, remains to be done. It is not enough to sue tree killers and recover damages. What is needed is to replace dead or dying shade trees according to systematized plans and provide intelligently for their future care. Every borough needs a Shade Tree Commission, as authorized by an Act passed at the last session of the legislature, with power to go into this matter broadly, so that shading of city streets and homes may be general and effective. To call this work sentimental is an error—it is intensely practical; it is necessary to lift town life to higher levels of enjoyment and usefulness.

And The Review will add that the statement that this work for trees is practical and necessary in cities, also applies with equal force to boroughs like Towanda, and to smaller boroughs as well.

DON'T BE A WHINER.

No truer words were ever written than these from the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, which says: "Don't fall into the habit of pitying yourself, for no character can stand the strain of whining. Under the influence of self-pity the stoutest heart grows timid, the most confident mind begins to waver, and the most fixed purpose turns fluid. With weaker natures the habit is fatal. It loosens the entire moral and physical being and sets it sliding down the hill of depression into the slough of despond. Ambition languishes and dies from it, hope flickers and goes out in its stifling atmosphere, industry becomes automatic, cheerfulness and the zest of life vanishes, the world loses its beauty and the sun shines darkly, and a flabby, nerveless, irritable creature creeps about in the guise of a man The self-pitier is the most useless of animals, a trial to himself and his family, and a stumbling block in the way of others. Most self-pity is bred by envy and a desire for luxuries beyond the purse. Any man threatened with it should hasten to thank God for what he has, and contrast his state with those more unfortunate than himself—there are always such ones, alas, to furnish object lessons to the dissatisfied. Remember you are only here once, and that you will be a long time dead. Don't be a whiner and a nuisance."

DON'T FIND FAULT.

Don't be a chronic fault finder. One slap on the back is worth three kicks on the shins. Employers should remember that ordinarily the men in their employ are just as conscientious about their work as they, themselves, are in the management of their business. Workmen have their setbacks and discouragements and one cheerful word from headquarters is nine times out of ten more effecive than a call-down.

If an employe "falls down" on his job dismiss him without hesitation; but as long as he remains in your employ make him feel that his best efforts are appreciated. A word of appreciation now and then costs nothing except the effort, but it is an investment that will pay big returns. There are enough people to find fault and the world is not in the habit of delivering its blows with a stuffed club. Praise and commendation are said to gain force by contrast.

It is doubtful if there is a language in the world which does not contain a proverb expressing the superiority of kindness as a means of arousing that which is best in human nature. The impelling force of no other mental stimulant seems to be so universally recognized and so often disregarded.—Scranton Tribune.

Farmers, says the farmers' paper, The American Farmer, have had ten years of good crops and good prices. In most of these years they have had both. Deficiencies in one corn and one cotton crop were more than made good to them by high prices. Last year they took in more money than ever before, and this year they are likely to take in $1,000,000,000 more than they did last year. They will buy freely many sorts of merchandise and they will have money to invest. Good business, The Farmer thinks, is about as certain as it can be for another year, proving over again that when the farmer is prosperous everybody is.

How much would neighbors rise in value, and how much would neighbors rise in beauty, if all would lay aside habits of criticism and neighborhood scandal and petty feuds and ridicule. And if men would study the things that make for peace, and things that make for ahppiness, everybody trying to make everybody else happy, what a revolution there would be.

"THE CITY OF PROMISE."

It is persistently rumored and in the air that there is a sort of feeling that Towanda is on the eve of an industrial boom. In these bright November days the old town looms up as "The City of Promise." While nothing is absolutely certain in the industrial future of any town or city, it would be well for Towandians to continue to pursue the even tenor of their way for the time being. Don't get excited. There is a bright future for Towanda and when we say that five years from now the population will be at least ten thousand, we are not dreaming, neither are we basing our predictions on rumors.

The Review is in close touch with the situation and at the proper time authentic news relating to industries which may spring up will be published.

In the meantime if you have property to sell, don't ask a third, a fourth or a cent more than it is really worth, thinking that there is going to be a big jump in valuations, that in a short time it will be worth twice as much. If a person wants to rent your vacant house, don't raise the rent a couple of dollars on a month the first shot, lower it, if anything, and lend your aid toward encouraging people to locate in this, "The City of Promise." There is nothing which retards the growth of a town any more than greedy landlords. The time to raise rents and demand better prices for real estate is when prosperity and business life is fully and firmly established—not when it is borning.

Towanda is the best town in Bradford county, always has been and probaly always will be. It is truly the City of Promise. and with you, loyal citizens, the future rests.

Be cheerful, hopeful, and by all means, helpful.

GOOD MOVE.

Judge Porter, of Lawrence county, has just taken a step which would make and end of the leasing of property to gamblers and other conductors of unlawful business if it were generally imitated. He has sent to the Allegheny workhouse for a period of thirty days, George J. Jones, a wealthy real estate owner and a prominent citizen of New Castle. Jones was arrested on the charge of leasing a building for gambling purposes. He admitted his guilt and the sentence was promptly imposed. There are prominent wealthy men in nearly every city of the state who are in the habit of renting property for immoral purposes. They do this in spite of their eminent respectability, because they are hungry for money. and know that property leased for such purposes usually brings in more money than would otherwise be the case. They do not trouble themselves about the possible result to the community or some of its weak-minded inhabitants.

In order that men of this sort may be brought to justice it will be necessary for some officer or some citizen to get sufficient legal evidence to convict. It is only when property is knowingly rented for illegal purposes that the owner is held responsible. Hence there must be legal evidence sufficient to convince a jury if a conviction is to be had and punishment is to follow. But no more effectual method for suppressing certain forms of crime could be adopted. And it would be just punishment for allowing greed to stifle the warning of conscience.

Good Morning! Are you satisfied as to the election yesterday or was your favorite turned down?

The joke writer is of all men most miserable. He has to be: A happy man can't raise a laugh. The happy man is too busy laughing to bother about being funny and the funny man is too seriously interested in being funny to have time to laugh. No really good person is ever humorous. The devil has a reputation as a joker but a jesting God is an absurdity. No one loves a joker, unless it is his wife or sweetheart and she loves him like the Lord loves a sinner. She invariably hates his jokes.

Canada has no hesitation to enforce her immigration laws, even against British subjects, as well as against foreign nationalities. Of a large number who arrived at Vancouver a few days ago 179 were ordered back to India, whence they came, for lack of means or some physical ailment. What would the Canadians say if the authorities in India were to deny them admission out there in case they presented themselves? It is all well enough to deal thus with aliens, but a very different thing when the subjects of the same sovereign are concerned.

There is a possibility of meat becoming cheaper. Meat packer Cudahy announces a drop or cut in the wholesale price and it is believed that this is but a forerunner of further reductions. Meat prices had been forced so high that there was a falling off in its general consumption. The packers, fearful that the American people would learn to live with much less meat and thus by their greed "kill the goose that lays the golden egg," are figuring that it might be safe in the end to sell their product at a more reasonable price.

If you are a kicker and see the shadow of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, says a wise exchange, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank and thus give men who are working to build up the town a chance. One long-faced hollow-eyed whining kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all drouths, short crops, chinc bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined.—Millerton Advocate.

SPARKS FROM THE ROCKET.

Some Interesting Items Taken From Wyalusing's Newsy Weekly.

The following interesting items were clipped from Wyalusing's bright and newsy weekly, they being sparks from The Rocket, as 'twere:

James Smith, one of Wyalusing's oldest citizens, who during his days of activity carried the mails from Tunkhannock to Towanda during the "old stage days," and after the railroad was built, carried the mail to and from the depot, on Saturday celebrated his 85th birthday anniversary.

About a month ago Jennie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brown, of Wyalusing, while running about the yard barefooted ran a piece of glass into her heel. It was supposed that she got the glass out, but the injury refused to heal, and for the past month caused her considerable trouble and pain. Last week the family physician made a careful examination of the injured member and placing the child under the influence of ether probed for the glass and found a piece nearly an inch long that had worked its way through the flesh till it was close to the bone in the heel.

R. F. Sulzer, who came from Towanda to Wyalusing in the early sixties, and gave Wyalusing its first hardware store and accompanying tin shop, recently visited friends here. Removing from Wyalusing, about 37 years ago, Mr. Sulzer went to Chicago where he obtained a lucrative position as head plumber on a Western road, but having a conviction that his services were more in demand in Sunday school work in the newly settled districts, he took up that calling, being appointed by the Presbyterian board and given the state of Minnesota as his field. Mr Sulzer has been pre-eminently successful in this work, there having grown out of his schools started by his efforts, 160 church organizations. He is making a tour through the East, lecturing in churches in New York, Baltimore, Scranton and other cities in the interest of Home Missions. He is a forceful as well as magnetic speaker, original in manner and expression, his addresses made up largely of interesting and touching experiences had by him in his work in the new and growing towns and settlements throughout that state. He made an address at the Thursday evening prayer meeting at the Presbyterian church, a number of his hearers having known him when he lived in Wyalusing.

New Albany Bank Organized.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, the stockholders of the First National bank of New Albany, met and effected an organization as follows: President, L. C. Allen of New Albany; vice-president, Carl Osthaus of Overton; temporary cashier, T. A. Kelder of New Albany. It would be hard to find three men in this vicinity who enjoy a greater degree of general respect and confidence than those chosen, and they will not only give the future patrons of the bank an honorable, conscientious service, but will attract business to the institution. It is expected that the bank will be open for business about the beginning of the new year.—New Albany Mirror.

Operation for Appendicitis.

Bergen Roof, young son of Ray Roof, submitted to an operation at the Robert Packer hospital yesterday and it is feared he will not survive. Seven years ago the father submitted to an operation for appendicitis at the hospital. The son was attacked with appendicitis and Dr. C. H. Ott found yesterday morning that severe bruises had developed in his abdomen.

Creates Interest.

Survivors of the war and their families everywhere will be interested in the resolution passed last week by Baron Steuben Chapter, Daughters of Revolution, of Bath, N. Y., asking congress to place widows of soldiers of the Civil war upon the same basis as is now given the soldiers themselves under the age pension act.

Have Raised the Price.

In the past justices and notaries public have been making out pension vouchers for 12 cents, and not deeming this price sufficient to cover the expense and responsibility, they have decided that hereafter they will charge 25 cents for each voucher made out.

Leslie M. Lettis, Who Died in Wysox, Went the Pace That Kills.

The pace that kills traveled Leslie M. Lettis, the Cooperstown, N. Y. man, who was found dead in bed at the home of George Brink on the Piollet farm in Wysox Monday morning, according to a statement of one of his sons who came to Towanda and claimed the remains.

"He was a good, kind father, and a prominent man until drink robbed him of his virtues," remarked one of the sons who is the proprietor of a big dry goods store in Cooperstown. "One hundred and ten thousand dollars he spent in a few years," continued the son, "most of that going for intoxicating drinks. We did everything possible for him, but as he inherited the money, he seemed to think that it was given him to spend, and it only lasted a few years. But he had his good qualities, he was father just the same, and as his family never lacked for anything that wealth could buy, we will ever cherish his memory. We are going to take his body back to the old home town and give him just as fine a burial as if he had died a saint."

The body was prepared for burial in Smith Brothers undertaking rooms and taken to Cooperstown Tuesday afternoon.

State W. C. T. U. Officers.

At the recent state convention of the W. C. T. U., held at Beaver, the following new officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ella M. George, Beaver Falls; vice-president-at-large, Mrs Kate Pitenour, Uniontown; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Emily Clark Scott, Pittsburg; recording secretary, Mrs. Sylvia B. Norrish, Sayre. Encouraging reports were received from all dejartments, especially membership, which now numbers 17,387 in Pennsylvania. There is a balance in the state treasury of $2,365. The from al ldepartments, especially memminers reported 1,173,500 coming to this country during the year, one person every 30 seconds of each day, who need to be reached and here is a question for the W. C. T. U. to consider at the next convention, to be held in Pittsburg.

Champion Bear Hunter.

Fifteen years old Harold Wilson, of Hyner, Clinton county, probably leads all in this state as a bear hunter, for in the ten days ending last Thursday night, he killed five bear of various sizes. While rambling along a rocky path in the mountains Thursday he came upon an old bear and her two cubs. He had some trouble to get the big bear as she fought desperately, but several bullets from this young lad's trusty Winchester brought her to the ground as well as the two cubs, both of which were of good size.

James D. Hammond.

James D. Hammond died at his residence in Wellsburg, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after a brief illness He was born in Ridgebury, Bradford county, May 18, 1823, and spent his earlier years in the vicinity of his birthplace. He later removed to Wellsburg, where he had since resided many years and where he established a wagon making and repair shop, which he conducted to the time of his death. He is survived by his widow, one sister, Mrs. Hannah Herman of Elmira, and one brother Gordon Hammond, of Bentley Creek.

WATKINS PRIEST INVENTS STOVE OF EFFICIENT TYPE.

Cylindrical Under Draft Said to Consume All Smoke.

The Rev. Father Lee of Watkins, N. Y., is ever active in good works and versatile as well, so his latest benefaction may be of a mechanical turn. Father Lee and some other Watkins men are perfecting a heating and cook stove on a new model which they believe will be far more efficient than old types.

The chief feature of the new stove is a cylinder extending longitudinally through beneath the divided grate which accelerates the draft and at the same time acts as a smoke consumer. By this the nuisance of escaping smoke is avoided and the largest possible amount of heat is obtained from the fuel used.

The new device permits the use of soft coal, coke and other fuels which will not burn readily in the ordinary stove. Father Lee has a rough model which burns shavings and kerosene oil without smoke or perceptible odor, proving its great efficiency. An Elmira firm is now making patterns for a larger and permanent model, and it is possible that the stove may be manufactured in that city on a large scale, if it meets the expectations of the inventor and promoters.

St. Nicholas will have a unique serial feature, beginning in its November number, in the actual log, or daily record, of a "Bluejacket" on the cruiser Olympia of the United States navy. "Three Years Behind the Guns," as this unusual story is to be called, sets down, in a home-sick lad's own words, the daily life and adventures of a clever boy who ran away to sea and enlisted on the Olympia in 1898, little dreaming that before his three years' enlistment was ended he would be on the commodore's ship in the battle of Manila Bay.

D. A. R. AT WILLIAMSPORT.

Eleventh Annual Conference of State Department Very Interesting.

The eleventh State conference of the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution was held at Williamsport at the Park Hotel, on Oct. 29 and 30. The meeting was a well attended and enthusiastic one, and was presided over by Mrs. Allen P. Pearsley of Wiliamsport, state regent. Mrs. Donald McLean, president general of the U. S. D. A. R., was present at the conference and greeted the daughters on Tuesday afternoon with a talk which was eloquent and inspiring.

The topics were "Jamestown Continental Hall," etc. The various chapters in the state were represented, and interesting reports from each chapter were listened to.

The report of the George Clymer Chapter of Towanda, was read by Mrs. J. W. Codding. The chapter was represented by the following members: Mrs. B. T. Hale, Mrs. Codding, Mrs. Edw. Carter, Mrs. William Little, Mrs. S. T. Hayt, Jr., Mrs. W. W. Jackson, Mrs. Fred Newell, Dushore, and six members from Canton.

These do the work of six teams, many of which are additionally employed, however. The work is proceeding rapidly, and unless retarded by unfavorable weather will soon be completed.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT.

"FINEST" ON PARADE.

Towanda Volunteer Firemen, as Usual, Make Fine Showing.

BIG CROWD SAW INSPECTION.

Ideal Autumn Weather Made the Day Perfect for the Annual March and Inspection of Local Department—Two Addresses.

A perfect day, a large crowd and plenty of enthusiasm characterized and lent color to the annual parade and inspection of the Towanda Volunteer Fire department Friday afternoon. While two of the companies, the Lin-tas and Mantuas, had not their full quota of men, yet the parade compared favorably with any turnout of the "finest" in recent years. At least three thousand people thronged Main street, along the line of march, cheering the companies as they swung down the street, to the inspiring music of the celebated Germania band.

Promptly at 3 o'clock the line moved out on Main street from Park street and marched away with a detachment of fire police under the captaincy of V. E. Pennell, making way through the crowd for the column. The Germania band was next in line, followed by Chief Engineer Thomas Ryan and his two assistants, W. Ennis Kingsley and William Mills.

Then came the old reliable Franklins, 23 strong, in their navy blue uniforms. Under the command of Drillmaster Nagle they executed pretty moves which were heartily cheered. In brand new uniforms of a handsome pattern, marched next in line the Naids ,with 24 men in the drill squad, the largest company in the procession. They made a fine appearance and many nice things were said about their new uniforms. They also drilled along the line of march, under the direction of Drillmaster Harry Wilcox.

Lin-ta Hose, No. 3, had but 15 men in line, all told. They formed an escort for their handsome cart, receiving much applause for their neat appearance. The Mantua Hook and Ladder company, like the Lin-tas, were shy of men, having but 18 in line. They made a neat appearance in their showy uniforms and came in for a share of applause. Hawes Hose company, No. 5, attired in white trousers and red shirts, looked atractive, and were also applauded as they escorted their parade carriage.

The second division of the parade was composed of the magnificent Franklin steamer, hose carriages and hook and ladder trucks. The line of march was up Main street to Mix avenue, back down to Barclay street, thence to a point in front of the Ward House, where the companies were reviewed by Chief Burgess Foyle.

Mr. Foyle delivered a short address, complimenting highly Towanda's excellent fire department and assuring them that their services are greatly appreciated. He introduced Dr. D. Leonard Pratt, a former burgess, who in a few well chosen remarks complimented the firemen most highly. Both speeches were listened to by large crowds in addition to the firemen, and hearty applause was accorded both Mr. Foyle and Mr. Pratt.

The annual parade and inspection is a yearly function in Towanda which is eagerly awaited, and while large crowds have seen previous parades, it is doubtful if there was ever a larger turnout than the one which greeted the march of the "finest" Friday afternoon.

In the Throng.

In the crowd which thronged Main street Friday afternoon and evening, were noticed the following well known and prominent citizens from different sections of the county: E. J. Atwood, C. L. Ford, D. Davis of Le Raysville; L. E. Wiggins, A. S. Hibbard of Wyalusing; Martin Elsbree, Windham; J. C. Rhinebold, Powell; Coleman Hassler and E. M. Mason, Sayre; David Keefe and District Attorney Mills of Athens; George N. Bird, Smithfield; Joseph T. Hested, New Albany; D. Kellogg, Monroeton; Joseph H. Deegan, Sayre; Hon. F. N. Moore, Orwell; G. M. Hoffman, Terrytown; Dr. Summer, Camptown; W. S. Black and S. J. Sarver, Laquin; J. W. Hurst, Camptown; Ed. J. Eberhard Warren; C. C. Wheeler, John Wheaton, Luthers Mills; Charles Seymour and J. H. Wheeler, Powell.

Hauled Down "Old Glory."

An odd incident occurred on Main street Tuesday which but few noticed. The large flag which had been flying over Main street from the Ward House to the Mercur block was taken down and the job of lowering it was let to the two Ward House porters. When "Old Glory" had been lowered and carefully folded, some one jokingly remarked that it was the first time in the history of the United States that the sars and stripes had been hauled down by an African and an Italian.

Old Soldiers Disappearing.

The average number of veterans at the Bath Soldiers' Home during the year ending June 30, was 1904, the highest in the history of the institution. It is believed that this number will never be exceeded, but that on the contrary applications for admission will steadfastly decrease each year, until the last veteran of the Civil war shall have been mustered on the eternal camping ground.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

Fire in Old Cash Homestead Wednesday Entails Loss of $2,500.

BLAZE WAS VERY STUBBORN

Fireman Had Hard Work to Save Building From the Flames, Which Worked Beneath Floors and the Walls—Origin of Fire Unknown.

Fire of unknown origin in the old Cash homestead at the corner of Third and Poplar streets late Wednesday afternoon, damaged the building and contents to the extent of at least $2,500.

The house which is one of the largest in Towanda, is occupied by George Weigel and family. About 4:30 p. m. Wednesday Mrs. Weigel went into a front room on the second floor to get some sewing, and as she opened the door, the interior of the room was found to be full of smoke. In one corner, discernible through the smoke, was a large blaze. The alarm was quickly given and the fire department was soon on the scene.

The firemen did good work, with three streams, but owing to the fact that the flames worked beneath the floor and walls, it was a hard matter to get water where it would do much good. The floor had to be torn up in different places in order to extinguish the blaze and when that had been accomplished everything on the second and third floors had been well soaked with black, muddy water.

The house, which is a large three story brick structure, is owned by Congressman G. W. Kiipp. The damage to the building and the household goods of Mr. Weigel is estimated at $2.500. The damage to the building is covered by insurance.

BOY FATALLY INJURED.

Laceyville Lad Dies in Packer Hospital, a Victim of the Cars.

In attempting to board a Lehigh freight train at Laceyville Sunday morning, Ray Hartman, aged 13 years, slipped under the wheels and his right arm and leg were taken off. He died at the Packer hospital at Sayre, Sunday night at 10 o'clock, after the arm had been amputated at the shoulder and the leg just below the knee.

The boy was the son of Mrs. Kate Hartman, a widow, living near the Lehigh station at Laceyville. Sunday morning East bound extra freight train No. 769, in charge of Conductor George Ferguson, of Sayre, with Engineer James Donald, at the throttle, was pulling past the long siding at Laceyville to back in and clear for passenger train No. 8. Conductor Ferguson stood on top of the third car from the caboose so that he could signal the head brakeman when they cleared the siding. At that time he noticed two boys, the one who was hurt and his younger brother walking along th eside of the train about 20 car lengths ahead of the car he was on. They were making no attempt to get on the train, and he paid no further attention to them.

No one saw the boy attempt to get on the train, but when the flagman, Corey Spencer, dropped off to go back to flag No. 8, a small boy ran up to him and told him that his brother had been killed. He heard a noise at the same time, and looking back about a car's length, he saw the Hartman boy lying along side of the track. He was rolling about in the ashes screaming, while the arm and leg laid inside of the rails that the train had just passed over.

At the same time Edward Keegan, a former Lehigh brakeman, who lives near the spot where the boy was run over came running up, and Spencer told him to get the boy away as the passenger train would be along in a short time while he continued back to flag it. Keegan took the boy off the track. He was bleeding profusely, and Dr. Sturdevant of Laceyville, was hastily summoned. He bound up the wounds and the engine and caboose were immediately cut loose and the boy placed on board and hurried to Sayre. The accident happened at about 10:30 a. m., and Sayre was reached at 1 o'clock p. m. He was taken to the hospital immediately and the amputations performed. The unfortunate boy lingered until 10 o'clock when he died.

Only a short time before the two boys had attempted to board a West bound train at the place and had been driven away by the conductor. They had then gone to Keegan's house where Ray had his hair cut, and after coming out they had evidently tried to get aboard the East bound freight with fatal results.

E. P. Powell, the farmer and nature writer of Clinton, Oneida county, says: "The drifting of leaves are not woven all over the trees for a single purpose. They shade the tree trunks in Summer and they exhale ozone to purify the air, and they are also indescribably beautiful. But when they have served their purpose for tree and for man, nature drops them down to fatten the soil. Fools burn them, but other fools burn bank notes; it is all the same—it is the destruction of wealth." Mr. Powell believes that the dead leaves are designed by nature for fertilizing the soil, and should be so used.

Clara F. Shriey, who died in Montgomery county a few days ago left a will of eight words whch was probated on Friday. It reads as follows: "The organs, carpets, dishes are for Lewis Shunk.

PAVING COST $5,371.09

Taxpayers and Citizens Have Cause For Rejoicing.

SAVED 59 CENTS ON EACH YARD

Contractor Wanted $2.26 Per Yard, But the Borough Did the Work for $1.67, Making a Total Saving of $2,034.91.

If some philanthropic individual presented Towanda with two thousand, thirty-four dollars and ninety-one cents, wouldn't there be cause for rejoicing in this, "The City of Promise?" Towanda has virtually been presented with that amount through the long headedness and excellent management of the village solons, according to the report made by C. D. Passage, chairman of the street committe at Monday night's meeting of the boro council. In other words, just $2,034.91 was saved the borough by the new Main street pavement being done by day work under direction of the street committe instead of letting it to a contractor.

It will be remembered that when it was decided to lay a new pavement from Court to State street, contractors were asked to submit bids for doing the work. When the bids were opened by council, the lowest one offered to put in the pavement on a concrete foundation, like the one that has been put in, for $2.26 per square yard. As that was the lowest bid, the council promptly exercised their right to refuse any or all bids and turned down all of the propositions and determined to do the work by the day.

There was a good deal of unnecessary fault finding and criticising of council for this action, but now that the wisdom of the move is manifest, every taxpayer has reason for rejoicing, and the grumbler has food for thought. The brick pavement which has now been in use a couple of weeks, cost the borough $5,371.09, which is $2,034.91 less than what it would have cost had the contract been let at $2.26 per square yard. In order thatthe taxpayers and readers of this paper may know the exact figures for each branch of the work, the following itemized statement is published:

Brick	$2838 71
Cement	822 08
Gravel, sand and teaming	734 23
Labor	1242 71
Advertising and sundry small items of expense	35 96
Total	$5673 69

Credits.

By cement sold	$ 65 40
By labor setting curb etc., to be paid by property owners	83 20
By 7,000 brick on hand	154 00
Total	$ 302 60
Net cost of pavement	$5371 09

Contractor's Best Bid.

3215 sq. yds. pavement at $2.26 per yd	$7265 90
700 feet curb at 20c	140 00
Total cost if done by contract	7405 90
Actual cost to borough as it is	5371 09
Amount saved borough	2034 91

The 3215 square yards of pavement as it lays today, cost the borough exactly $1.67 per square yard, 59 cents a yard less than the lowest contract bid, and the saving of over $2,000 is a big item to the town. The council and especially the street commitee are to be commended most highly and earnestly congratulated by the taxpayers and citizens for their work in this matter.

Outside of the paving report, matters of only a routine nature, were considered, and business appertaining to sidewalk and street repairs transacted. The following bills were ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned:

Streets	$476 08
Lights	176 43
Police	140 00
Fire Department	50 00

THE REVIEW OFFERS GREAT ADVERTISING OPPORTUNITY

Daily Circulation of 3,350 Entirely Covers the Local Field.

The publishers of The Daily Review have just completed a most successful and in some respects a remarkable circulation campaign, which unquestionably puts this paper far in the lead of any other daily paper in Bradford county. Since Oct. 7 ,over 1,300 new paid subscribers have been placed upon the list, and they are receiving Bradford county's best daily newspaper every morning. This new circulation is not free sample copies, but bona fide paid subscriptions.

The opportunity that a daily circulation of 3,350 copies, completely covering the trading radius about Towanda, offers to merchants and other advertisers will be realized at once. Never before have Towanda business men had such an opportunity presented to reach all of the desirable buyers of goods as now. And just now is the time to begin an active advertising campaign to secure the bulk of the Fall and holiday trade. The rates are extremely low for the service rendered.

The moral is plain—ask for rates.

HUNTERS FINED.

Three Italians Indulged in Gamefest on Sunday and Were Arrested.

W. E. Shoemaker, district game protector and fish warden, came up from Laceyville Saturday, and accompanied by C. N. Booth of the State Constabulary, who came down from Sayre, went to Laquin Sunday and gathered in three young Italians who were indulging in a little gamefest, that is they were shooting game.

The nimrods were arraigned before John Schoonover, justice of the peace, at Laquin, and gave their names as Cesare Cera, Pasquale Janniezzi and Guiseppe Jartagha. Each one was fined $50 and costs of $4. A fine of $25 was assessed because they were hunting on Sunday, and the other quarter of a hundred was tacked on because they were indulging in a shootfest without paying a license, they being foreigners and therefore non-residents. The fines were paid.

Swallowed Wood Alcohol.

SHOP TRAIN WILL RUN ON REGULAR SCHEDULE.

Towanda Workmen Will Have to Wait An Hour and a Quarter each day in Sayre.

It will be necessary for the patrons of the Lehigh shop train running between Sayre and Towanda to wait an hour and a quarter each day in Sayre if they want to make the trip on that particular train.

The shop train is scheduled to leave Sayre at 6:15 o'clock. The shops formerly closed at 6 o'clock, but beginning last Friday they close at 5 o'clock. But the Lehigh schedule is made, railroaders run trains accordingly and it is impossible for the time being to run the shop train an hour earlier. It is possible that later a supplementary time table containing a schedule for running the shop train an hour earlier may be issued but so far the matter has not been taken under consideration by the Lehigh officers.—Sayre Times-Record.

DRAGGING OF ROADS.

Split Log Drag's Inventor Tells How to Use It.

MAN THE GREATEST FACTOR.

D. Ward King Emphasizes Necessity of the First Dragging—How to Hitch Your Team and Regulate the Drag. Making Good Roads Without Money.

[Copyright, 1907, by D. Ward King.]

You have been told how to make a drag, and I have tried to give you some slight idea of the benefits to be had by a little judicious effort. And I am now to show you, as best I may, how the drag should be used.

The drag you have made, measured by the best, may be good or poor, and its quality will have an influence on the results obtained. But the man is the greatest factor. A good man with a poor drag will improve a road more than will a poor man with a good drag. So before getting to the drag I want to remind you of a few facts which you know perfectly well, but may, unless I caution you, escape your attention for the moment when you first begin to drag. First, you will be certain to improve your road if you are in earnest, but must not expect to construct a five-year-old road in five minutes or in five hours. Five long years are required to construct a five-year-old road. The benefits I have described cannot be got at the first dragging, yet it is equally true that without the first dragging they never can be realized.

Then I would have you remember you are apt to do better work after a year's experience. And your team also as green, uncertain what you want them to do. The team will learn presently to walk to suit the drag, and you will find that helps much. At first you will find yourself driving the team and ignoring the drag. Shortly thereafter you will be caught driving the drag and ignoring the team. Experience will teach you to give attention to both simultaneously.

Hitch to the chain at a point which compels the unloaded drag to follow the team at an angle of about 45 degrees, then step on and regulate it by shifting your weight from point to point. The action of the drag is governed by four things—first, by the distance of the double trees from the drag, which is regulated by slipping the chain backward or forward through the hole in the ditch end of the drag. The length of the chain determines the hold taken on the ground. To make the chain longer is equivalent to adding weight to the drag. If the drag is too heavy, shorten the hitch. Second, the place where the clevis is fastened to the chain. When you desire to move much earth place the clevis pretty close to the ditch end of the drag and stand with one foot on the extreme end of the front slab. Hold the team steady at a slow walk when using this hitch. Third, the position and condition of the steel cutter. Half an inch below the edge of the slab is enough for the steel to project. If the steel is very sharp, put less of your weight on the front slab. Fourth, your own position. If you want to move dirt, proceed as advised in No. 2. In a soft spot step back on to the rear slab. On a hard spot step to the front and drive very cautiously, for if the steel catches on a root or strikes a solid bowlder the drag might tip over. When the drag clogs step to a point as far from the ditch end of the log as possible and pull your team toward the center of the road for a few steps.

In order to do all these things satisfactorily a safe platform should cover the space on top of the stakes between the slabs. Use inch boards; nail to three cleats; place two cleats so they will drop just inside the end stakes; place third cleat so it will not interfere with middle stake; make the cleats to fit neatly between the slabs, bust space the boards an inch from each slab and from each other. These cracks will allow earth to sift through.

If you make the spaces much wider than an inch you will catch your shoe heel.

Here is the recipe for making good roads without money and with the least possible expenditure of time and energy: Assuming you have your drag made, hitch the team as directed and drive down one wheel track to your neighbor's front gate and back on the other wheel track, with one horse on each side of the rut and with the drag moving the loose earth toward the center of the road. One trip will answer, but another one or two will hasten matters. After the next rain drag in the same manner, and following the third, fourth and fifth rains, when the center of that portion of the roadway you have been dragging will be the highest. It may be rather narrow; if so, plow one shallow furrow on each side the dragged portion, turning the furrow in the road. Spread this loose earth over the road with the drag. By this operation the road has been widened about two feet. Plow no more until after another rain. Plow after each rain until the road is wide enough to suit you. If you follow this plan you will have a good solid road from the beginning. There will be a minimum amount of mud and dust, the center of the road will be always fit for travel, and you can build the grade as high as you wish. The road will be very much better from the beginning, but it will not reach its highest state of efficiency until it has been dragged regularly for four or five years.

ROADMAKING TEST.

Advantage of Solidly Rolled Earth as an Element In Permanency.

At Bement, Platt county, Mo., a roadmaking experiment is in progress which will be watched with much interest, says the Carrollton (Mo.) Gazette. It is conducted under the direction of the state highway commission and is intended to demonstrate the advantage of the highly compacted earth as an element in the permanency of the roads.

A stretch of road a half mile or more in length was excavated to a depth of twenty inches to two feet and the earth thrown out at the side. Then an enormous steam roller was put into this excavation, which is about twenty feet wide, and the bottom rolled down as solid as it could be made. Then the excavated earth was thrown in by degrees, drenched with water and rolled thoroughly, and so on till the excavated earth was put back. This rolling process is so rigid that the earth thrown out will not nearly fill the excavation, and to complete the filling up ample ditches are cut at the sides of the road, the earth thrown into the excavation and thoroughly compacted with the roller. The excavation is filled up to the height desired for the roadway, and thus the road consists of a body of earth nearly or quite two feet thick compacted as firmly as it is possible for a roller to compact it.

Now, the theory is that if this road is thoroughly drained, so that it cannot be undermined by water, and is dressed down on the top with a drag whenever it is wet from rain it will shed the water on the top and be a permanently solid and smooth road and one that can be constructed at moderate cost.

Canada's Cash Road Tax System.

Canadian townships, particularly those of the province of Ontario, are adopting the cash road tax system in place of the ancient method of working out the road tax, which is in too many cases a farce, says the Good Roads Magazine. Supervision of the work on the roads is intrusted to from one to four responsible commissioners, who use labor saving machinery, build better bridges than the roads had and make the highways permanent and durable. During the decade from 1896 to 1905 the outlay on county roads of Ontario amounted to $21,000,000. Of this $10,432,902 was cash, and $10,510,900 represented days of statute labor. This equaled an average of $2,100,000 per annum and included the expenditures by the townships and a part only of that made by counties on their country highways. Cities and towns spent a large amount in addition to the above sums. The good roads movement is said to be extending widely in Canada.

Gumbo Roads.

State Engineer George W. Cooley of Minnesota was recently quoted as saying that he is convinced that there is no reason why good gumbo roads cannot be built. "The gumbo road built last year near Crookston," he stated, "is now in excellent condition and has been every day during the year in which it has been in use."

Long Island Motor Parkway.

It is expected that the work of constructing the Long Island motor parkway will soon be begun in order to have it finished about a year hence, says the Good Roads Magazine. The length of this roadway is to be over sixty miles, from 75 to 100 feet wide, and its cost is estimated at over $2,500,000.

Ponderous Bell Stolen.

Albany, Nov. 5.—It was discovered when it became time for the sexton to ring the bell in the tower of the Kenwood Baptist chapel that there was no bell to toll. The bell weighed half a ton, and how it was got out of the belfry and carried away is a mystery. The tradition goes that the bell was made from cannon metal, the guns furnishing it having been taken out of the Confederate ironclad Merrimac.

A Seasick Hero.

No man is a hero while seasick. Lafayette was sent by Washington and congress to France to ask further supplies of men and money for the American colonies. He sailed from Boston in the frigate Alliance, and a passage had to be cut for the ship through the ice. Off the Newfoundland banks the ship was assailed by a terrible tempest, which threatened destruction, and Lafayette was very seasick. His aide-de-camp, the Chevalier de Pontibaud, who relates the incident in his memoirs, heard him soliloquizing thus on the hopelessness of the situation and the emptiness of glory:

"Diable! I have done well certainly. At my time of life—barely twenty years of age—with my name, rank and fortune and after having married Mlle. de Noailles, to leave everything and serve as a breakfast for codfish!"

Raising Poultry.

No matter when you start in the poultry business, remember that you should always start with the best. If you have not enough money to buy many fowls buy only a pair and get the best you can and remember further that next year's produce may not even be as good as those you start with. It takes years of experience to master the art of raising fine poultry, and it is only after we have successfully studied the problem well that we can successfully mate our fowls year after year and show a constant improvement at the end of each season. Begin in a small way and study every point and avoid the mistakes that we once made. Don't expect $100 worth of poultry to bring you an income sufficient for your family. No investment will do that.—Farmer.

An Artemus Ward Story.

When Artemus Ward was at the height of his fame he received a telegram from Tom Maguire, then the leading amusement manager of the Pacific slope. It asked Artemus, who was then delivering his funny lecture in New York, what he would take for fifty nights in California. The prompt and laconic response was "Brandy and water." Maguire somehow failed to see the point, and he wired Ward for an explanation. He got it in the shape of a thirty word message costing $16.50, for rates were high in those days, which stated that a diagram would be sent by the following mail.

SHIVERS IN A SHACK.

Proud Artist Says He Would Rather Die Than Beg.

Taunton, Mass., Nov. 5.—Ellis C. Lincoln, formerly a portrait painter in New York; his wife and two sons were found by the overseer of the poor shivering in a rambling shack.

There was no food in the shack, and the furnishings consisted of two camp stools, a small stove, and a few boxes. Last May Lincoln, according to his story, had a finely equipped studio in New York and his home was well furnished. Then came a fire, destroying the building and its contents. Lincoln found himself with $200 and the clothes that he and his family had on their backs.

With a desire to tour New England the homeless artist decided that now was his time and with his wife and two boys, aged four and two, started on the trip. He purchased a flat bottomed boat and rowed from one place to another.

At last, with money gone and the larder depleted, they were in a wretched state when the wife came to the city and asked for aid. Lincoln did not know of her mission.

"I would rather die than beg," said he when the overseer called.

The children were supremely happy. They amused themselves in a huge sandbank beside the house. The overseer told Lincoln that all he could do for him was to send him back to New York or place him on the state farm. He said he was willing to go back to New York.

THE PRESIDENT VOTES.

Casts His Ballot at Oyster Bay and Takes a Drive.

Oyster Bay, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt arrived at Oyster Bay shortly before 10 a. m. He was met by Mrs. J. West Roosevelt and drove in her carriage to the polling place in a hall across the street from the rooms formerly occupied as the executive offices. As the president stepped from the carriage he was greeted and cheered by a throng of his neighbors, with most of whom he shook hands. He was then given ballot No. 84 and spent four minutes in preparing it.

After casting his vote one of the bystanders asked him if he had not voted for a Democrat, Willard Bartlett, who was nominated by both parties for the court of appeals. The president responded with a laugh, saying, "It is a vile aspersion."

Leaving the polling place, the president went for a drive about the village with Mrs. J. West Roosevelt. He left Oyster Bay at 11 o'clock.

WOUNDS EXPOSE HEART.

Doctors See Organ's Pulsations In a Negro Patient.

Middletown, N. Y., Nov. 5.—A most remarkable case was treated in Thrall hospital.

George Jones, a young colored man, was brought there suffering from stab wounds. His whole left side was laid open so that the heart was exposed, and its pulsations could be seen by the doctors and nurses. The action of the heart was not impaired, and the injuries were dressed.

While it is hoped to save the man's life, he is in a precarious condition and his antemortem statement has been taken by the coroner. Jones was shooting craps with another negro when a dispute arose over 25 cents. Jones drew a knife, and his opponent, William Mason, drew a razor.

HOME FROM HOLLAND

Delegates Porter and Choate Return From Peace Conference.

MUCH WAS ACCOMPLISHED.

Fourteen Conventions Adopted Are All Important, "the Porter Proposition" Particularly So—Even Better Results Expected From the Next Meeting.

New York, Nov. 5.—General Horace Porter and Joseph Choate, two of the American ambassadors to the recent peace conference at The Hague, returned home on the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie and will go on to Washington in a few days to submit a report to the president. Both General Porter and Mr. Choate expressed themselves as being entirely satisfied with the results of the second conference. Because two of the principal propositions before the conference—obligatory arbitration and limitation of armaments—failed to take positive form Mr. Choate said the idea prevailed in some quarters that little had been accomplished. This view, he declared, would be dispelled when the results of the conference were studied and their far reaching effect fully realized.

No less than fourteen conventions, dealing with various phases of war, were adopted, and the conference also expressed its declaration in favor of many more agreements, among them the doctrine of obligatory arbitration. One of the principal conventions, adopted unanimously, was the proposition offered by the American delegation through General Porter and designated "the Porter proposition." This convention prohibits the use of armed force for the recovery of contractual debts until all efforts at arbitration have failed. The importance of the convention was emphasized by the fact that it was signed by every creditor and debtor nation. Article 1 of the convention reads:

"The contracting powers are agreed not to have recourse to armed force for the recovery of contractual debts claimed from the government of one country by the government of another country as due to its citizens. However, this stipulation shall not apply when the debtor state refuses or leaves without reply an offer of arbitration, or in case of acceptance, renders impossible the establishment of a compromise, or after arbitration does not conform to the award."

Porter Pleased.

Discussing the work of the conference, General Porter said:

"I think it will be fully recognized when the work of the conference is studied and understood, that if this conference had succeeded in adopting only one of the fourteen conventions finally agreed upon, it would have repaid the nations for bringing it about.

"War seems remote, now, but we have done much to ameliorate the horrors of it if it should occur. We have provided for the better protection of prisoners and wounded and for a more full recognition of the Red Cross and other societies in the interests of humanity.

"This was the first time that all the nations of the globe ever met in amicable conference. The debates were interesting and intelligent. There was no acrimony; not a harsh word was uttered. Everywhere was evident an earnest desire to bring the people together and when the text of the fourteen adopted conventions is studied every one will be struck by their importance, not only as affecting the present, but as indicating still better results at the next conference."

While crab grass is a terror to the gardener in the month of August, it is one of the first of the garden weeds to kick the bucket when the frosts come in September.

If one desires to take celery up and put it in the cellar for winter use, it is best to water in such way as to moisten the roots only. If the tops are allowed to get wet they are more likely to rot.

Just so far as possible the farm animals should be encouraged in the natural instinct they have to be and keep clean. Even pigs are dirty because they are compelled to be rather than because they want to be.

The silo should be viewed as a necessary factor in the agricultural operations on every farm which has reached a value of $80 an acre. And from this price up the necessity for one increases in a corresponding ratio.

Screen doors may be easily converted into serviceable storm doors by covering them tightly with ordinary building paper. This arrangement not only serves to protect the screen during the winter, but saves the hanging of another door.

A number of careful breeders have found out that the best way to take the kinks out of the herd bull is to see that he gets regular exercise. As these chaps are ordinarily kept penned up, they not only grow logy and ugly, but their usefulness as sires is greatly impaired.

A friend who has a pet coon has noted the interesting fact that when not very thirsty the animal will dip up milk in its paw and drink therefrom instead of lapping the milk up from the dish, as is the habit of the dog or cat. Only when really thirsty will the coon drink in the latter way.

Hogs are said to have been brought to America for the first time by Columbus on his second voyage in 1493. The wild razorbacks which used to be found in considerable numbers in southern forests are supposed to be descendants of these early importations.

A central Iowa farm tenant states that he and his wife (the latter is undoubtedly deserving of most of the credit) have this year raised and will sell enough poultry from the 160 acre farm which they are working to pay all of the rent, while the proceeds of the crops raised and the dairy products sold can be put in the bank.

The value of the bulletins issued by the federal government to the average reader is lessened because they are in so many cases too scientific and voluminous and cover a space in print that the average tiller of the soil hasn't time to wade through to get at the meat of things. The most valuable portion of these publications is the summary which is given at the end, this being brief and quite to the point.

There are many folks in other occupations than agriculture who seem to be content to just get a living and carry on extensive operations simply for the sake of keeping up an appearance of industry. This reminds us of the old fellow down in Ohio who bought chickens in the country and sold them in the city for less than he paid for them. When asked why he did this he replied that he had to do something to make a living.

While the use of soft coal is at best a dirty job, it can be made much less so in the burning if small quantities of the coal are put on the fire at a time. This not only makes a hotter and a brighter fire, but does away with much of the nuisance of heavy black smoke and accompanying soot. It is only within comparatively recent times that stokers of locomotive and stationary engines have taken advantage of the fact noted. An engine so fed may require more attention, but it certainly gets a maximum of heat units from a given amount of fuel.

A pamphlet recently issued from the office of public roads of the department of agriculture shows that in the year 1904 the state of Massachusetts had 17,092 miles of public roads. Of this mileage 6,621 miles were surfaced with gravel, 1,212 miles with stone, eight miles with shell and two miles with tar macadam, making a total of 7,843 miles. Of the gravel roads 6,579 miles were built by the towns and forty-two miles by the state, while of the stone roads the towns built 680 miles and the state 523 miles. From the fi[illegible]n it will be seen that of the [illegible]ge of the state 45.8 per cent [illegible] roads have been improved, which puts the state well to the front in the matter of improvement of her public highways.

TEXAS ROADS.

A pamphlet lately issued by the public roads division of the department of agriculture at Washington shows that in the year 1904 there were 121,409 miles of public road in the state of Texas. Of these 1,909 miles were surfaced with gravel, 167 miles with stone, while 52 miles were surfaced with shells, making in all a total of 2,218 miles of improved roads. From the figures given it is seen that but 1.7 per cent of the roads have been improved. A tax not to exceed 15 cents on each $100 worth of taxable valuation may be levied by the commissioners' court of any county for road and bridge purposes, while an additional equal tax may be levied by the same body if agreed to by a majority of the taxpayers. Each ablebodied male citizen between the ages of eighteen and forty-five is expected to perform not to exceed five days' work each year on the public roads, furnish an ablebodied substitute or pay to the road overseer the equivalent of $5 for the time specified.

THE FAMILY NAME.

The problem of rearing children in the home is immensely simplified if in addition to wholesome environment there is an ancestry which can be pointed to with pride. Often at the critical time in the career of the boy or the girl the pride they feel in the family name and record is the only influence that serves to keep them from going wrong. On the other hand, it is not strange that many young people do go wrong when, coupled with lack of home training, there is the further handicap of a vain and irresponsible mother or scalawag father. Yet in spite of such drawbacks as these the individual boy or girl should strive to attain the best for his or her own sake in the hope that in the future he or she may hand down to any children as a heritage a clean record and a good name, in comparison with which wealth and cheap fame are very minor and shoddy considerations.

WHAT KANSAS IS DOING.

Since the state of Kansas began to raise alfalfa some fifteen years ago and got Professor F. D. Coburn installed as secretary of the State Agricultural society she has come to the front with some pretty strong claims, among which are that she possesses the largest field of alfalfa in the world, located in Butler county and containing 2,500 acres; the largest agricultural experiment station in the world, 4,500 acres at Hays City; of having raised the largest fleece ever shorn from the back of a sheep, fifty-two pounds, as well as the largest herds of Aberdeen-Angus, Hereford and Galloway cattle in the world and the largest Percheron horse breeding establishment in the United States. If these statements are correct, Kansas has no occasion for taking a back seat.

A bottle of vaseline should be kept and used now and then on the cows' teats. This will prevent cracking and chapping. A homemade ointment that is just about as good may be made by adding a few drops of carbolic acid to a third of a cupful of clean mutton tallow tried out.

While the cause of a good deal of tough meat is that it is from a cow that is a great-great-grandam, a fact that further contributes to its sinewy texture is that it is cooked too soon after killing. Time to cure, say a week, makes all the differences in the world in the palatability of a piece of meat.

When a farmer has arrived at the point where he begins to see the advantage of using a Babcock tester in arriving at the commercial value of his dairy cows, he is quite likely to be open to conviction that a silo is an adjunct in the care and feeding of his herd which he cannot afford to be without.

An introduction of the cash system on the farm and in the country and city home would in many instances effect a decided economy in the yearly expenditures. An item always seems larger in cash than it does charged on the books. Moreover, cash means an immediate and not a postponed settlement of account.

In a vast majority of cases it is the stripe of proprietor rather than the breed of cattle, horses, hogs or poultry that determines whether such animal husbandry enterprises are prosecuted with success or failure. The best thoroughbreds under the sun will not pay out under the incompetent management of a scrub owner.

The safest policy for one to follow who has his own way to make and expenses to pay is to firmly refuse to sign a note with anybody, no matter how great his need or how seemingly justifiable accommodating him thus may seem to be. It is more satisfactory in the end to give him the money he needs, with the possibility of his repaying it when he can.

One can hardly help feeling keen regret that apples, potatoes and many other kinds of fruits and vegetables are so perishable and cannot, like corn or wheat, be kept through from a season of plenty to supply the shortage of a succeeding year. During the year 1906 there were hundreds of thousands of barrels of choice fall and winter apples that went to waste simply because buyers would not and perhaps were not able to pay a price which made it worth while to pick the fruit off the trees. This season, due to a heavy freeze at blossoming time and after, there is a shortage of fruit such as has not been known in many years, but due to the short life of the apple none of last year's crop can be utilized to relieve the scarcity. One season a wanton waste of fruit and vegetables, the next a perplexing shortage, with no possibility in sight of equalizing the two extremes.

THE RAT CAMPAIGN.

Before winter sets in every farmer should inaugurate a vigorous rat campaign and keep at it until every one of the pests is annihilated, if such a thing is possible. A recent government bulletin on the subject points out the urgency of a campaign against the rodent pests when it states that they annually destroy $100,000,000 worth of agricultural products and merchandise. Among the poisons recommended is barium carbonate or barytes, which is without taste or smell and in small quantities, which would be used for rats, is harmless to the larger farm animals. The action of the poison is slow, giving the rats time to leave the buildings in which the poison is placed. It may be given to the rats in the form of a dough made of one-fifth barytes to four-fifths flour, or the poison may be mixed with eight times its bulk of common oatmeal and made into a stiff dough, or it may be spread on bread and butter or moistened toast. The poisoned food should be placed in the runways in small quantities and the dose repeated if the first does not seem to do the business. Of the devices which are used in snaring the rodents the guillotine trap has been found to be most effective and satisfactory. This may be baited with pieces of bacon, cheese or kernels of corn.

SMALLER FARMS.

As indicative of a tendency which is becoming more potent every day toward a splitting up of the big farms and ranches of the middle west into smaller areas, a central Iowa corn ranch of several thousand acres has recently been divided up into eighty acre tracts and offered for sale at $6,400 each. While there is little question that for some time to come the quarter section farm will continue to be a sort of unit in the measurement of farm areas, the whole trend of things is toward the smaller farm, eighty acres, which can be operated with less help, less sweat and worry, yet with almost as much profit when the books are balanced at the end of the year. The gradual advance in farm values is making the skinning and careless methods which have prevailed on many larger farms more and more unprofitable, while the scarcity of farm help makes the handling of so large areas a problem of increasing perplexity and difficulty. The intensive culture of fewer acres is the system that is bound to come. It may mean smaller barns, cribs, stacks and flocks, but it will also mean less worry and anxiety in the matter of caring for the growing crops and securing them, as well as more comfort and enjoyment of life from day to day.

The fall months offer a first rate time for cleaning up the wood lot. The growth of grass and other vegetation is dead and settled to the ground and gives a clear field for work, while the wood that is good for anything at all is quite likely to be dried out. Allowed to lie on the ground in the snow and dampness of winter, it will deteriorate in quality and lose much of its fuel value.

As a result of experiments which have been made it has been found that the loss of butter in the separation of milk at 90 degrees F. is 1.3 per cent, at 75 degrees it is 3 per cent, while at 60 degrees it has been found to be 7.1 per cent. The findings here given would seem to show the wisdom of separating the milk as soon as possible after it is taken from the cow, or when it is as near as possible at animal heat, which is about 100 degrees.

Some one has said that it costs $25,000 to raise the average American boy. While there is some difficulty in harmonizing these figures with the fact that a good many families of boys are raised by parents who never see or have the amount mentioned throughout the course of their lives, there are many who will agree that a boy who is good for anything at all is a mighty good investment for his parents, the community and the country at $25,000. There ought to be more of these high priced boys.

Although it has been a commonly accepted view, scientists hold that there is no vital connection between the frosts of early autumn and the leaf coloring of many of the forest trees, the brilliant hues which they take on being the result of a natural ripening process and not of the action of the frost. In way of verifying this view the fact may be cited that when an unusually heavy freeze comes early the leaves are killed, dry up and fall without going through their delightful color metamorphosis.

One still hears occasionally the statement that frost is a good thing for corn. There is just about as much truth in this as there would be in a statement that pneumonia or typhoid fever or death is a tiptop thing for the human organism. True, a heavy frost will kill the corn plant and in so far may hasten the time when the leaves will be rustling in the wind. At the same time ears of corn on frost bitten stalks never fill as well as they do when the stalks are allowed to mature normally, but are chaffy and are much more likely to sour and spoil.

Mauretania Beats Lusitania.

New York, Nov. 5. — Vernon H. Brown, the New York agent of the Cunard Steamship company, received a cable message saying that the new turbine steamer Mauretania on a trial made an average of 27.36 knots per hour over a 300 mile course. This is nearly a knot faster than the Lusitania made for the same distance on her trial.

GOLD SHIP ARRIVES.

New York Bankers Get Eight Millions From Abroad.

MORE CASH IS ON THE WAY.

Wall Street Rejuvenated by New Developments and Election Day Rest. Imperilled Trust Companies Now Appear to Be Out of Danger.

New York, Nov. 5.—Everybody in the financial world looked on election day as the biggest single relief to the banking situation that could possibly have been devised. Besides giving the harassed clerks in the trust companies and banks a chance to straighten out the tangle that has resulted from the runs of depositors last week and the participants in the bankers' conference on Saturday and Sunday a chance to get some sleep it also changed the whole aspect of the money market. Eight million dollars of the $30,000,000 gold engaged in Europe arrived in this city and is being distributed among the banks. Following hard in the wake of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, which brought this sum, is the giant Lusitania with $10,000,000, and with these two has begun the great flow of gold to this side, which is not likely to stop now short of $50,000,000.

Bankers and all persons who have to do more or less with the monetary situation regarded the holiday that intervened in the ordinary course of business as the best thing that could have happened to the banks and the stock market. They believe that it has fixed the time to take their firmest stand and that there is opportunity now as never before to turn public sentiment from negative distrust to positive confidence.

Encouraging Developments.

In the confusion of rumors following upon the conferences of the bankers and trust company directors on Sunday a good many unnamed fears gained headway because there was little definite and real information to contravert them, but at the close of business, when it was appreciated that the Tennessee Coal and Iron sale was made as a distinct benefit to the Trust Company of America and to the banks in general by releasing a large amount of cash for the purposes of that institution, and that even the premium paid on currency helped to relieve the general situation by making it possible to import gold although foreign exchange was at the export price and that besides it was bringing into circulation some of the hoarded money withdrawn from the banks last week, feeling grew more and more cheerful.

The visit of H. C. Frick and Judge Gary of the steel corporation to Washington was another event whose outcome promoted better feeling. Whatever assurances they received as to the Tennessee Coal and Iron deal, they accomplished one feat of no mean proportions. Before they left the president had promised to incorporate in his message to congress recommendations on financial and monetary matters.

Currency legislation has been so much the talk of Wall street and the banking world within the current year that any definite intimations from Washington that there will be a reform in the present inelastic and archaic system meets with eager interest. There is hardly a banker in New York who has not expressed publicly the great need for a better system of financing the needs of a country whose commercial and financial future they declare to be the greatest the world has ever seen.

Trust Companies All Right Now.

The trust company situation no longer gives threats of impending disaster. It is well in hand, and firm measures have been taken to keep it so. Now that a thorough examination has been made into the loans of both the Lincoln Trust company and the Trust Company of America and both have been found fully capable of liquidation without loss and with even a profit to the stockholders of the companies, there is no disposition on the part of the national banks to abandon them. The state banks and the other trust companies, too, received intimations from the bankers' syndicate that is back of the trust companies that have withstanding heavy drafts on their reserves, to the effect that they would find it more prudent to stand by the assailed institutions instead of profiting by their unlucky position to draw away their depositors. It was one of the cases where a word to the wise was sufficient and it caused a new aspect of co-operation among financial corporations of the same class.

Alton Loses on Two Cent Fare.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Largely increased business but with considerable loss in revenue is shown by an investigation made by George J. Charlton, general passenger agent of the Chicago and Alton into the effect of the two cent fare laws. Tariffs in compliance with these statues have been in effect for four months and a comparison with the receipts for the same months of last year show a loss of over $100,000 on the Alton.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

County Treasurer.

To the Voters of Bradford County:—

Gentlemen—Two years ago I circulated two petitions, one asking your County Judge to reduce the price paid for boarding county prisoners from 40 cents to 25 cents per day; the other asking that the fees paid the county treasurer be reduced from $4200 to $1500 per year. The petitions praying for relief from exhorbitant expenditures on these two items, signed by about 5000 taxpayers, were properly presented. The Court did his part, granted the request of the taxpayers as to boarding the prisoners and fixed the price of 25 cents per day. The Board of County Commissnoners and Auditors, a majority of whom were pledged to reduce the fees paid the County Treasurer to $1500 per year, met, and instead of reducing the fees as pledged, fixed the compensation at about $3,000 per year, and put forth the argument that the question of reducing the compensation had not been made an issue before the caucus with notice to the candidates.

I firmly believe that our taxes are unnecessarily high and that $1500 per annum is a sufficient compensation for the County Treasurer, and to bring the matter squarely before the taxpayers of Bradford County, I announce myself a candidate for the office of County Treasurer under Republican rules, and publicly assert if elected that I will discharge all the duties appertaining to said office, and not charge or accept a sum total greater than $1500 per year, and will present a petition to the proper board asking for said reduction in the sums paid to the County Treasurer, such change to take place January 1st, 1909. If you favor reducing the taxes in this item, also in other channels, I respectfully solicit your support and influence at the primaries on April 11, 1908. FRANK N. MOORE.

NEW YORK FASHIONS

Pattern For Child's Coat With Shield Designed by May Manton—No. 5793.

The long coat that covers the frock is the favorite for little children and is much worn in cloth of all colors, in velvet, velveteen, corduroy and cheviot. This one is adapted to all, but in the case of the model is made of ivory white broadcloth, the collar and cuffs and shield embroidered in eyelet style. The material is both handsome and durable, inasmuch as it can be cleansed with perfect success, and the coat is dainty in the extreme. Blue, brown and red cloths are, however, well liked, and the collar always can be of velvet or of the material trimmed with banding or applique in place of embroidery. The closing is made in double breasted style, so allowing two rows of handsome buttons.

The coat consists of the plain yoke and the fronts and back that are laid in box plaits. Patch pockets are arranged on the fronts, and the big collar finishes the neck. The full sleeves are gathered into bands to which the cuffs are joined, and the shield is separate, buttoned into place.

The quantity of material required for the four year size is 3⅞ yards 27, 2½ yards 44 or 1⅞ yards 52 inches wide.

Williimsport Sun Throws Ray of Light on the Prespects of the Railroad Now Building Through Bradford County

The Williamsport Sun has the following to say concerning the P., B. and E. railroad now building in Bradford county: "Interest in the recent lease of the Walker coal lands in upper Lycoming county, by interests represented by Hon. James Kerr, is further heightened by the developments of the past few days. One of these developments is the placing upon the market for sale the bonds of the proposed Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern railroad. A profile map accompanying the bond offer gives the proposed route to be taken by the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern, and this shows the road as coming down the West Branch from Keating to West Williamsport, and from thence in a Northeasterly direction to Binghamton, N. Y.

Connects With the S. and N. Y.

"The conclusion arrived at, in the absence of either authoritative confirmation or denial, is that the new road will connect with the Susquehanna and New York at Newberry. The Susquehanna and New York now reaches Towanda, from which point a line has been surveyed to Binghamton, and thus this road would become an important link in the chain of proposed roads surveyed across Pennsylvania to Pittsburg. The recent apparent friendliness and substantial community interests displayed between the Pennsylvania and Susquehanna and New York at Newberry gives rise to the public belief that the proposed P., B. and E. plan may be acceptable to Pennsylvania interests.

The Walker Coal Lands.

"The operations, so far as they have proceeded on the P., B. and E. connect at their Western terminus with the Susquehanna and New York at Powell. The profile map accompanying the bond offer, shows a contemplated coal branch of the P., B. and E. running into the Oregon Hill and English Mills district of Lycoming county, in which the Walker and other coal lands lie, by way of Cedar Ledge, Bradford county. This fact probably settles the question as to whose interest Mr. Kerr and his Smokeless Fuel company represent in the case of the Walker coal lands. A second coal branch is designated as proposed to be built from the Moshannon country in Clearfield county, to Coalport, tapping undeveloped coal beds. The firm putting the bonds upon the market is E. H. Gray & company, of New York city.

Work Next Spring?

"Coming East from Clearfield county, in striking the sections of the West Branch along which the Pennsylvania line now skirts, the survey for the P., B. and E. runs, for the most part, on the opposite bank from the Pennsylvania. It is represented by those interested in the sale of bonds that work on these portions of the new road not now under way will be begun next Spring. In the meantime, under the terms of the lease by which the Walker coal lands were secured, these mines will be developed so as to be ready for coal shipment as soon as the railroad taps them."

Experience of Three Girls.

Three young ladies, all vivacious and of course very pretty, had a funny experience in Laquin Thursday night. They were comparative strangers in the village, and during the evening attended a party. Young gentlemen accompanied them to the house where they were to spend the night, and left them at the gate. The lady with whom they were to stop, promised to leave a light burning in the parlor, and the girls thought it odd when they tiptoed in the parlor and found everything in darkness. While groping in the darkness one of the girls touched a big mirror, and just as she remarked that she had not seen one in that room in the afternoon, another girl struck her had against a phonograph on a little table in one corner. Then they tiptoed out of the house to look around. On the street they met a man and on asking him where their lady friend lived, giving her name, he walked them about a quarter of a mile to a neat little house, and there they found the beacon light burning in the parlor.

Transferred by Request.

Lieutenant B. Mart Bailey of Mansfield, well known in this section, has at his own request, been transferred from the U. S. infantry to the field artillery service. He has received his new commission and has been assigned to duty in Cuba, or at Fort Reilley, Kan. The field artillery is mounted service, which fact appealed to the young officer from Mansfield. A few months ago Lieutenant Bailey declined promotion, which required service in the coast artillery.

CHURCH ADVERTISING.

One of the Remedies for Church Stagnation and Dwindling S. S.

Clergyman of all denominations are pretty well agreed that religion ought to be carried into business, but too few of them realize that the rule may be worked both ways by carrying business methods into religion.

There is a remedy for church stagnation and the dwindling attendance of Sunday schools that ought to be more generally applied. Newspaper advertising—not the cut-and-dried formal kind so familiar to the public, but original appeal of the attention compelling sort—has brought new life into church and Sunday school work wherever it has been fairly tried.

It has been successfully demonstrated in several of the larger cities that originality in church advertising pays and that originality is not all synonomous with sensationalism. —Philadelphia Record.

CHAMPION POTATO RAISER.

James Dunn of Overshot, Produces 220 Bushels on Small Piece of Ground.

So far as can be learned, James Dunn of Overshot, is the champion potato raiser of this county. Monday he brought to the office of The Review 20 tubers which filled completely a half bushel measure, and weighed 30 pounds. Some of the potatoes weighed over two pounds each, which are by far the largest yet displayed in Towanda.

Mr. Dunn planted nine and a half bushels of potatoes in an acre of ground, and harvested 220 bushels, which is considered an extraordinary good yield, especially for this year with its drouths and backward season.

Couldn't Fool Lehigh Engineers.

In a report of operation and observance of automatic signals made by the superintendents of the Lehigh Valley railroad to the management of that company, was shown that in a series of surprise signal tests the automatic block signals were purposely disarranged in 146 instances, and the engineer stopped his train in each case, there being not one instance in the entire number of tests where the engineer failed to obey the stop signal. These tests are made at times when the train men do not expect them; hence, show conclusively that engine men are careful in the observance of signals.

Needle in Leg.

For some time past Mrs. George Linkletter of Susquehanna, had been suffering from a severe pain in her left leg above the knee. She consulted a physician, who advised her to go to the Simon H. Barnes Memorial hospital for treatment. Sunday she underwent an operation, performed by Dr. M. L. Miller, and a sewing machine needle was taken from her leg. How it came to be there Mrs. Linkletter is at a loss to account. Dr. W. H. Wilson of Lestershire, took an X-ray photograph of the leg in which the needle is plainly seen.—Susquehanna Transcript.

Alarm Brought Out Companies.

The efficiency and promptness of the Towanda Fire department was well illustrated about 2:30 Saturday morning. The fire bell was tapped just twice by some unknown person, and within three minutes the Franklins, Lin-tas and Mantuas with apparatus ready, and enough men to make a showing, were on Main street at the corner of Park street, ready for action. The alarm was false, but it gave the fire laddies an opportunity to show that they are "always on time and ready for action.

Money From Lehigh.

Wysox township has received from the Lehigh Valley Railroad company the sum of $5,250, in payment for damages done to the roads in making the change in wagon roads in the township. This is a nice little sum of money to put in the treasury for the benefit of the taxpayers.

Headaches in Bond.

There has been enough cider made in this vicinity in the last two weeks to float the biggest battleship in Uncle Sam's navy. And the cider barrels have in bond many a headache that will be released before Spring.—Dushore Review.

THE MYSTERY SOLVED

George Wilcox Admits Stealing Louis Herda's Money.

INNOCENT BOY EXONERATED.

Detective Guy C. Hollon Arrests Guilty Lad Who Confesses Theft of Money —Other Doings in the Realms of Justice.

The arrest of George Wilcox, a 14 years old Wysox township boy, by Detective Guy C. Hollon, Sunday afternoon, and his plea of guilty in juvenile court Monday, clears up the mystery of the stealing of a pocketbook containing $98 belonging to Louis Herda, from the top of the safe in the office of Bailey's meat market on Bridge street, Friday morning. His confession also dispels the shadow of suspicion which hovered about a Towanda boy.

Young Wilcox says he took the pocketbook, hired a livery rig and accompanied by another boy, drove to Athens and Sayre, and spent $6 of the money. On returning in the evening, he learned that the police were looking for the robber, became alarmed and going in the alley in the rear of the market, opened the door and threw in $98 on the floor. He also confessed to Officer Hollon that he had broken open the money drawer in Myer's coal office on Washington street, but was frightened away before he had a chance to secure the money.

He is a bright lad and will probably be sentenced to the Glenn Mills Reform school by Judge Fanning, as he plead guilty in juvenile court Monday.

Wilcox's confession entirely exonerates another boy who was suspected of stealing the money, and whom it was thought threw it in the back door after hearing Constable McCracken remark if the money was not returned by Saturday sunrise further investigation would be had.

Murder Suspects Extradited.

Detective Sargeant George E. Fox of Bridgeport, Conn., and State Detective Frank Virelli of Hartford, Conn., left Towanda Monday afternoon on train No. 4, for Bridgeport, with Dominico Cicio and Guiseppe, the two Italians, who were recently arrested at Canton, charged with murdering a nine years old boy at Bridgeport, a year ago. Attorney David E. Kaufman attempted to have the prisoners released, and fought their extradition on the grounds that they were in Canton when the murder was committed. The prisoners were brought into court on a habeas corpus Monday the Connecticut officers were on hand with requisition papers signed by Governor Stuart, and the men were given into the custody of Officers Fox and Virelli, who immediately started for Connecticut. R. A. Mercur, Esq., represented the Commonwealth in the habeas corpus proceedings.

GUESSERS GUESSING.

Weather Prophets Dreaming and Seeing Things for Winter.

The guessers who call themselves weather prophets, are seeing all kinds of things for the coming Winter.

John Peterman, the hornet's nest prophet of Reading, says the coming Winter will be a mild one, because the insects are building their nests high. There is a conflict of authority on this matter, though, for Elias Hart, the goosebone seer of Reading, says there is a hard Winter ahead. Devoe, the Hackensack prophet, who relies on neither hornets' nests nor goosebones, forecasts a variety of weather. He says Winter will begin in November and the month will enter with a cold wave. There will be a snowstorm during the first week and we shall have sleighing here on Thanksgiving Day.

The most serious trouble of the season will be on the fourth and fifth of January, when all railroads throughout the West will be blocked by snow and not a train will be able to leave Chicago. From the above it seems to be pretty certain that we will have some kind of a Winter.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Melvin C. Stevens of Wysox Township, Meets Instant Death.

Melvin C. Stevens, son of the late William Stevens, Sr., of Mercur, Wysox township, met a horrible death in the Coxton yards Tuesday night. He was employed as brakeman on the Lehigh, and was returning to Coxton from Tunkhannock. In the lower yard at Coxton, he alighted from the train and jumped directly in front of a passenger train No. 5 coming up. Both legs were cut off near the hips and he was dead when found.

The unfortunate man was 26 years of age, and possessed characteristics of such sterling worth that he was esteemed and admired by a large circle of friends. Surviving are his mother and one sister, Miss Sarah Stevens at home in Mercur, and one brother, William Stevens, Jr., rural mail carrier out of Rummerfield.

The remains were brought to Wysox Wednesday, and taken by Undertakers Murphy & Campbell, to the Stevens home in Mercur. The funeral party left the house Friday at 1 p. m. going to Keen Summit church, where services were held and interment made in the cemetery at that place.

Yonkin of Dushore, favorably known as a hotelkeeper, will hereafter conduct the same under the name of the "New Commonwealth," and under his guidance it promises to become one of the most popular resorts in this section of the state.
